BFL

BROTHERS FOR LIFE

MEMBERSHIP ADMISSION RULES & HOW TO JOIN

1. Who may apply

Brothers For Life welcomes applicants beyond its founding members. Admission is subject to the group's eligibility, review and approval processes. Applying does not automatically make someone an active member.

2. How to join

Read these rules, contact the BFL team at info@brothers-for-life.com to express interest, and follow the official application and identity-verification instructions when registration opens. Never send passwords, sign-in codes or banking credentials by email.

3. Initial membership contribution

The admission requirements are KSh 1,000 non-refundable registration fee and at least KSh 1,000 initial share capital, recorded separately. Total initial requirement: KSh 2,000. Do not send funds until BFL officially enables and confirms a verified payment channel.

4. Days 1-7: pending admission

The registration fee and minimum share capital are due within seven days of admission. During this period, an applicant may attend meetings but has no voting, borrowing or guarantor rights. The Treasurer is expected to issue reminders on days 3 and 6.

5. Days 8-14: conditional extension

An applicant who has not completed the initial requirements may seek a seven-day extension supported by one existing member guarantor. No additional extension fee applies. All requirements remain subject to verification and official review.

6. Day 15 and reapplication

If the admission requirements remain incomplete after the extension period, cancellation is due under the membership policy. The applicant must wait 90 days before reapplying. Any uncertain payment history requires reconciliation before a decision.

7. Participation and accountability

Members are expected to save responsibly, follow approved BFL rules, respect fellow members, participate constructively, provide truthful information and protect confidential group records. Loans, guarantees and other member rights are subject to eligibility and separate approval.

8. Registration status

Public online registration and payments are currently disabled. This document is informational and does not create membership, request payment or replace an official approval decision.

Contact

Official BFL email: info@brothers-for-life.com